

ABSTRACT

A magnetic recording medium includes an underlayer formed on a substrate, the underlayer made of Cr based substance, and a magnetic layer
5 formed by epitaxial growth on the underlayer, the magnetic layer made of Co based magnetic substance. The magnetic layer further includes a plurality of layers, each made of Co based alloy including at least one of oxide and nitride as additional content.

10